Exploring New Boundaries in Colour with Missoni Home

A game of shades and limitless hues, sophisticated and conceptual, but still candid. Clouds, reliefs and twists, play elusively between gently outlined graphic signs and on tonal backgrounds. New jacquards, decorated with gleams of metallic silver and copper minerals and blended with soft pastels reflect the magical tones of dreams. Colours fade in and out of each other, diluted and morphing like a watercolour, in hues of the sunrise and sunset, blue and pink twilight and the mysterious northern lights. Alternating strong colours freely climb, with trompe-l'oeil effect, indistinct zigzags or rows of undulating lines. Botanical prints have a playful and light touch. Nordic fantasies or wild rosebuds grace subtle gauze and intricate decorative fabrics. On soft backgrounds, the hellebore flower, naive and essential in its structure, settles and imposes. Its form lit up by the colours of the stamens, of the outlines and the details and enhanced by shadows.

Modern Memories with Frato

Cruising the world has continuously fed Patrícia Santos's, Frato's creative director, thought and forged an Atlas of compelling memories in her mind. The idea of having these recollections conveyed into beautifully designed and memorable pieces became a ruling passion and has gradually grown into her daily routine. The urge to spawn a showcase of the world as she sees it, staged into settings evoking a classical feel under a contemporary imprint matured and gradually became what we now know as distinctively being Frato's identity. From a different perspective, Frato is also a showcase for the extraordinary skills of all those involved in displaying the excellence of traditional artistry coupled with state of the art technology.

“The Cut” is a collection of highly designed kitchens from Record éCucine. It is a close collaboration between Fabio Setten — An Italian entrepreneur who produces in Italy only; and Alessandro Isola — A very Italian architect with a studio in London. Their idea of a kitchen: different materials in perfect harmony. A tone-on-tone colour scheme prevails and blends in with an elegant environment where all the combinations are soft and progressive, composed of similar shades. Colour tones on different materials brown, with darker brown for the wood finishes, a textured grey with lighter spots for the large worktop, white and grey also for the lacquer tops, black and steel for the appliances. The Cut kitchens are available at Art of Form; our professional team of designers and architects will fully customise and utilize kitchen systems based on space and functionality.
